Aid Education in China

Each year (或In recent years/Recently), college students, encouraged (或motivated/inspired by our government) to aid students in poverty-stricken areas, volunteer themselves in poor villages (或voluntarily go to poor villages) for a year and try to improve education in poor areas (或with a view to improving education in poor areas 或aiming at/ in the hope of improving education in poor areas) .

Aid-education has been beneficial in two aspects. On the one hand (或For one thing), college volunteers have opened the eyes of students in underdeveloped regions to the outside world by bringing them new knowledge and thoughts. As a result, they are extremely well-received by (或popular with) the children there. On the other hand, college students have received a rigorous training and built up their characters by adapting to the harsh living conditions.

From my perspective (或point of view), China's educational development can't be isolated from each individual (或The inputs of individuals are indispensable to the development of China's educational level) . College students, therefore, should take the lead (或play a leading role) in response to our government's appeal for offering aid to children in under-developed areas.

2. 引起此现象的原因

3. 你的看法

Each year, hundreds of thousands of people (或a great multitude of people) in China take civil service exams conducted at various levels in the hope of becoming (或hoping to become) government employees. Among them, college graduates are (或represent) a fast-growing force that can't be ignored.

In the final analysis, this growing trend among college students is mainly attributable to two factors—ambitions and comforts (或the contributing factors to this trend among college students are ambitions and comforts) . On one hand, many college graduates view (或consider) these exams as a springboard to a higher social status, greater power and prestige. On the other hand, being a civil servant generally means (或ensures) a stable income, an enviable healthcare program, and other comforts of life. It is, therefore, quite an appealing career option to many college graduates.

Personally (或From my point of view) , as our nation needs an injection of new blood into the civil service sectors, it is beyond reproach for college students to aspire to become civil servants. They, armed with lofty ideals and extensive knowledge, are undoubtedly among the best candidates.

Excessive Packaging of Commodities

No one in China has failed to notice the fact that goods are wrapped excessively in boxes or bags. (背景描述; 双重否定; 同位语从句) Taking a look around (现在分词作状语), we can find examples too numerous to list (不胜枚举): a small computer is packed in a thick and heavy carton, and clothes are put in well-designed plastic bags. (例证)

What are the causes of this problem? (自问自答) On the one hand, in order to (动词不定式作状语) earn more money, a considerable number of manufacturers usually wrap their products with unnecessary but appealing materials aiming at (以...为目的) attracting customers' attention. On the other hand, quite a few customers believe that the more delicate the package seems, the superior the quality will be. Excessive packaging, actually, brings about several demerits. For one thing, it is a waste of natural resources. For another, customers are often deceived by artificial external packing.

To change this situation (动词不定式作状语), I believe that we should take measures as follows (主动). First, laws should be implemented to impose restriction on excessive packaging (被动). Second, a public education campaign should be launched (被动) to arouse customers' consciousness that excessive packaging doesn't necessarily ensure good quality (同位语从句). Only in this way can we put an end to this trend. (倒装)

Online Shopping

首段：3句话= 背景+事实描述+举例说明

The past decade witnessed the huge advancement of Information Technology (背景描述). And shopping through the Internet has gained growing popularity among web surfers (主题事实描述). For instance, it can be noticed that an increasing number of young people purchase clothes, books, electronic equipment and the like on Tmall, E-Bay and Alibaba. (举例法扩展段落) (或: A case in point is the Group Purchasing, which attracts thousands of customers. 举例+定语从句)

2段：问题分析4句话 = 主题句+ 危害1+危害2 +危害总结

In spite of the convenience and low price of on-line shopping, others argue that we can not turn a blind eye to its negative aspects. For one thing, the quality of goods bought online may not be as superior as it is described and sometimes, it is likely for customers to buy fake commodities. For another, many customers find it troublesome to make a change when they are not satisfied with the goods bought online. As has been noted, these do exert bad impacts.

尾段：解决措施（即我的看法）3句话 = 总说+建议+展望未来

As a customer, I am convinced that effective measures should be taken to enhance online shopping. (总说看法) To be specific, it is suggested that regulations and rules should be worked out to scrutinize online shop owners. In addition, shoppers are well-advised to be alert when purchasing online. As long as we spare no effort to do so, a promising online shopping is just awaiting us.
